

Your mission matters!

Story by

Stanisław Matczak

What keeps me in this workplace?

What bothers me in this workplace?

Do I have the skills to be an agile coach?

Does my work here make sense?

Should I drop everything and move to the Bieszczady Mountains?

What would I be doing in the Bieszczady Mountains?

What on earth am I doing here?

Why the Bieszczady Mountains in particular?

What am I here for?

What am I here for?

Why am I here?

Increase team and organization effectiveness by using Scrum

Exercise 2

Currently, my primary goal at work is to ...

... improve teams and organisation effectiveness

... reduce waste

... make the organization a better place

... help the teams to be successful

... humanize the workplace with Scrum (copied from Gunther Verheyen)

... help people become a better version of themselves (copied from Ewa Koprowska)

... reduce suffering in product development (copied from Craig Larman)

Is what I am currently doing getting me closer to that goal?

Do I have the all tools and resources I need to reach that goal?

How much does my personal goal match up with the goal of my team, department, and organization?

How will I recognize that I'm moving closer to that goal?
